

A A A

Because compassion for capacity begins with understanding.

A

Acknowledge you are either...

A

Activating or...

A

Accommodating a highly sensitive nervous system.

Sometimes what appears to be “behavior” may actually reflect overwhelm, stress, sensory distress, fear, or survival responses.

Support often begins not by increasing demands — but by increasing safety, predictability, accommodations, and compassion for capacity.

